UNITED STATES HAS ADOPTED DEFINITE STAND ON BOMBING

JAPAN'S RIGHT TO BOMB CHINESE CITIES INDISCRIMINATELY CHALLENGED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(P)—The United States and other leading signatories, employing as a medium the nine-power treaty guaranteeing China's territorial integrity, have begun exchanging information on their activities with respect to the Sino-Japanese conflict.

This was disclosed authoritatively today while the state department awaited a reply from Tokyo to its sharp note of protest challenging Japan's right to bomb large Chinese cities indiscriminately.

Views have been exchanged the last few days by nations most concerned over the Far East's undeclared war, but there has been no indication that any intends formally to invoke the treaty.

Presumably such a step would involve a call for a conference of signatories to consider what joint action might be taken in the hostilities.

The treaty, signed in 1922 by the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, China, France, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands and Portugal, provides for consultation "whenever a situation arises which involves the applications of the compact."

Under that authority, the United States and Great Britain as well as some of the other signatories, have been keeping each other informed of their respective views and movements.

Reports from Geneva that Great Britain was considering invocation of the treaty evoked no official comment in Tokyo. But high sources pointed out that such might involve difficulties.

Foremost among them is the fact that the treaty provides no machinery for enforcing any decisions which might be made by the signatories if a formal conference were held.

Would Complicate Situation.
Likewise the almost certain refusal of Japan to participate in such consultations likely would complicate the situation.

Meanwhile, the United States awaited a reply from Tokyo on its note of protest to the bombing of Chinese cities.

Frankly resentful also of what it regarded as a Japanese attempt to interfere with American diplomatic activities in China, the state department awaited a reply to a strongly worded protest dispatched yesterday to Tokyo after the bombing of Nanking.

The note, marking the most vigorous stand assumed by this government since the outbreak of the undeclared war in the Far East, condemned any general bombing of large civilian populations as unwarranted and contrary to principles of law and humanity. It was the second representation to Japan within three days.

Officials declined to speculate on what further action the state department might take if it considered the Japanese response unsatisfactory.

Whether it might deem advisable the invocation of the Kellogg-Brandt pact and the nine-power treaty was a question to which no official answer was forthcoming. (The Kellogg-Brandt pact, signed

REPUBLICAN PARTY LEADERS PLANNING OFF-YEAR SESSION

POWERFUL MOVEMENT FOR IN-BETWEEN CONVENTION OF PARTY LAUNCHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(P)—A powerful movement for an off-year republican convention developed today at a meeting of the party's executive committee.

The move, led by Harrison of several of the foremost members, including Walter S. Halahan of West Virginia, R. B. Creager of Texas, Daniel E. Pomeroy of New Jersey and others.

At the same time opposition developed from Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, floor leader for Governor Landon at the last national convention.

Spangler presented to the executive committee a poll of 11,000 officers of republican clubs and other party organizations showing 94 per cent in favor of meeting to draft a "declaration of fundamental principles."

He asked the immediate creation of a planning committee of 50 or 100, leading republicans including such men as Hoover, Landon, Frank O. Lowden, Senator Borah, Colonel Frank Knox and Senator Vandenberg to work up the declaration of principles.

Under his plan the national committee would call the convention for next spring.

Members of the committee generally were hesitant to comment on Senator Vandenberg's proposal for an anti-Roosevelt coalition.

The anti-campaigns convention, suggested months ago by John Hamilton, republican national chairman, and more recently proposed by Hoover, would call the party before the 1938 congressional elections.

It was down as the principal topic of discussion at today's republican executive committee meeting, but final action at this time was not in prospect.

"IRON LUNGS" NOW DOT TEXAS AS BULWARKS AGAINST INROADS HUMAN RESPIRATORY TROUBLE

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
DALLAS, Sept. 23.—(P)—Robot saviors of child and adult, "iron lungs" they call them, now strategically dot Texas as fortresses against disease and injury.

Massive, clumsy in appearance but delicate in mechanism, the respirators with the skill and finesse of a light-fingered surgeon—sometimes even more effective—

Only a year ago they were uncommon in the Southwest. Children were stricken with infantile paralysis; tiny lungs refused to work. Physicians climbed aboard airplanes and sped with sinking patients to the nearest "iron lung," hundreds of miles away.

Now the respirators, which supply vacuum pressure to open and shut the lungs for artificial and normal breathing, are available in at least 12 Texas cities with many others campaigning for funds.

Expensive, ranging from $1,750 to $2,500, the machines, nevertheless, will be available at all times to any person, regardless of position. Private donors have so stipulated while cities and hospitals have let it be known that the mechanical "life-savers" are available without cost.

Clustered in the Houston, Galveston, Beaumont and Port Arthur area in the coastal region are seven respirators with more on the way. Four are available in Houston hospitals and public subscriptions are being taken for a fifth.

Quick Work at Wichita Falls.
Only 48 hours was the time needed at Wichita Falls to raise the $1,735 needed for the city's mercy machine. Due on Oct. 8, the respirator could have been used four or five days ago when a 15-year-old college girl was hurried to Tulsa, Okla.

Ahilene citizens responded to a newspaper appeal with $2,350, far more than the $1,700 needed. Officials decided to use the overflow in the purchase of hydrotherapy and physiotherapy equipment for a local hospital to treat crippled children for the scourge of infantile paralysis and other causes.

Oil man M. L. Davey at Palestine donated a machine which rests in the county courthouse available at all times for local physicians should the need arise.

Swamped with orders since the appearance of the dread paralysis disease during hot summer months, a large Boston firm shipped an emergency respirator to El Paso for use until the full-sized machine could be shipped. The border city is the only "iron lung" spot between Fort Worth and Hot Springs at present, but Ahilene's machine will soon arrive.

Now known as emergency centers.

AMERICAN LEGION URGES BIGGER ARMY AND NAVY FOR U. S.

REAFFIRMS OPPOSITION TO FOREIGN ISMS; DEMANDS PROTECTION PROPERTY

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(P)—Daniel J. Doherty, 43-year-old Woburn, Mass., lawyer, who served seventeen months in the American Navy during the World War, was elected national commander of the American Legion today.

His selection by the 1,339 delegates to the nineteenth annual convention was unanimous. Doherty had been regarded as a favorite, but a tough fight had been expected with the delegations in favor of Raymond J. Kelly, Detroit's corporation counsel.

Besides Kelly's name, the names of Milo J. Warner, of Toledo, O. and Stephen Chadwick, of the State of Washington, were planned in nomination.

As the roll call was sounded for Virginia, Chadwick asked that his state's vote be cast for Doherty.

Kelly followed, making the vote unanimous.

And Warner followed suit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(P)—The American Legion today reaffirmed its opposition to all fascist and communist enemies of the American constitutional system of government, recommended a bigger army and navy, and urged the necessity of protecting personal and property rights in all industrial disputes between capital and labor.

Tae 1,339 delegates, apparently recovered from the fatigue of the convention.

MRS. W. M. LAYTON DIED LAST NIGHT IN LAREDO; BURIAL HERE

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD FROM CHURCH OF CHRIST FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. W. M. Layton, aged 69 years, long-time resident of Corsicana, died in Laredo Wednesday night at 11 o'clock after a several weeks illness. She and her husband were visiting their daughter, Mrs. Carl Bergman, and family at the time she was stricken and her condition did not improve enough for her to be returned to her home.

Funeral services are planned for Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Church of Christ with interment in Oakwood cemetery. The rites will be conducted by Leslie G. Thomas, minister of the Church of Christ, of which she had been a long-time member.

Mrs. Layton was born in Tennessee, but came to Texas, settling in Ellis county 57 years ago. She had resided in Corsicana for the past 50 years.

Surviving are her husband, four sons, Roy Layton, Teague, Arthur Layton, Tyler; Robert Layton, Corsicana, and Leslie Layton, Tyler; a daughter, Mrs. Bergman; eight grandchildren, one great-grandchild, four brothers, W. J. W. Foster, Corsicana; S. H. Foster, Tyler; Sid Foster, Athens and Judge A. E. Foster, Corsicana; two sisters, Mrs. Betty Barnes and Mrs. Hattie Wigley, both of Corsicana, and a number of other relatives.

Funeral services will be held at the home of Dr. Trimm Houston, Lawrence Nolan, C. A. Donovan, B. T. Farrar, Roy Harrison and Lonnie Murphy.

Sutherland-McCammon Funeral Home will direct arrangements.

Allred Hints At Only One Session For Legislature

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—(P)—The possibility there might be only one special session of the legislature this fall instead of the two most people have considered probable was hinted at today by Governor James V. Allred.

While criticizing what he termed the greatest campaign of propaganda against additional taxes he had ever witnessed the governor said flatly:

"There will not be two sessions unless there is a possibility something will be accomplished."

There was no question the state was badly in need of additional revenue, he said.

"The legislature voted the appropriations and the people the amendments which make new revenue necessary," he said. "The folks who are hollering economy now could have joined with me last spring when I was urging conservation and caution in expenditures."

PLANS COMPLETED TO SECURE FUNDS UNITED CHARITIES

INCREASED NEED OF MONEY IS POINTED OUT BY CHAIRMAN F. C. PAUL

F. C. Paul, chairman and Ralph Brown, co-chairman of the United Charities campaign, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 28 and 29, for minimum of $3,600, were perfecting their organization today, and announced they would be ready tomorrow to publish the names of their committees.

According to present plans, a number of committees of two men, a chairman and an assistant, will be named to canvass the business district; a group of women's committees will be named to work in the residential section, which will be divided into six districts, and an advance committee, composed of Will Thompson and A. F. Mitchell, will start their drive for advance gifts Friday morning.

Need More Money.
Mr. Paul pointed out this morning that for several reasons the United Charities organization will need more money to operate this fall and winter than it did last year. Reason was that federal assistance has been withdrawn, and that the city will see an influx of indigent persons when cotton picking season is over.

He stressed the fact that Corsicana citizens should realize that it is "our United Charities," not "the United Charities," and every citizen is a part of the organization, whether he gives to it or not. Mr. Paul added that it is the responsibility of every citizen to do his share in taking care of the city's indigent persons, by giving to the organization which is in a position to do the most good with a minimum amount of money.

"If the citizenship of Corsicana responds liberally to our appeal for money at this time," Mr. Paul said, "The United Charities will have the money to take care of emergency cases as they arise and there will not have to be additional drives during the year."

Mr. Paul also pointed out that the United Charities is an organization in a position to know where money and time can be spent where it will do the most good, and if Corsicana citizens respond to the campaign, they can send beggars and panhandlers to the United Charities for help, knowing that if the persons are worthy of help they will be given it.

PRESIDENT SPEEDS ACROSS MID-WEST ON FAR-WESTERN TOUR

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN EN ROUTE TO SEATTLE, Sept. 23.—(P)—President Roosevelt, during the first day of his trip across the continent, departed from Chicago at 12 noon (Eastern Standard time).

The President's special, headed west through Illinois toward Iowa and Nebraska.

A move would have the additional advantage of bringing the United States into full cooperation on measures to halt the far Eastern conflict—a step considered essential if the peace effort is to meet with success.

Geneva circles considered that Japan, while ignoring league of nations initiatives, would scarcely refuse a nine power consultation under the treaty she signed in Washington in 1922 with China, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal and Belgium.

The signatories agreed to respect the sovereignty and independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China. These things China has charged before the League of Nations Japan is violating by an undeclared war "of aggression."

Under the treaty the signatories agree whenever a situation arises "which in the opinion of any one of them involves the application of the stipulations," there shall be full and frank communication between the contracting parties.

The nine-power treaty is being considered as the best means of approach to the problem because the adhering nations have direct Far Eastern interests. Some countries on the League advisory committee, on the other hand, have no such direct interests.

No stops except for switching and servicing the campaign-like ten-car special were planned until tomorrow when the President will make his first rear platform appearance. Chicagoans' home of Senator McMahon, one of the chief Democratic opponents of the supreme court re-organization proposal.

A little later in the day he will make another appearance at Wendover, Mo. He will stop at the day with an hour's stop at Casper, home of Senator Schwartz, a democratic proponent of the President's court plan. He expects to take a drive in that city.

Although several informal speeches will be made on the 6,000 mile journey, the President himself has described the trip as one on which there will be more "intake" than "out go."

In other words, more listening to ascertain the trend of current thinking among the people.

Tennessee Votes on Repeal.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 23.—(P)—Dry Tennessee, where five per cent beer is the strongest legal beverage, balloted today on repeal of its prohibition laws, but the result will have no binding effect. The referendum will be a purely advisory recommendation to the legislature.

BROTHERS CHARGED WITH MURDER IN DENHARDT CASE

These three brothers of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, (left to right) Jack Garr, Dr. E. S. Garr and Roy Garr, were charged at Shelbyville, Ky., with murder in the death of Brig. Gen. Henry Denhardt, who faced a charge of slaying Mrs. Taylor.

Houston Quake Proves Be Man Driving Drunk

HOUSTON, Sept. 23.—(P)—T. M. Lindsey thought an earthquake had hit before dawn today as his home shook and the linoleum buckled in the bathroom.

Outside he heard a hicough and saw a man sitting at the wheel of an automobile. The machine had ploughed into the side of the house, crumpling a part of the wall.

The driver was charged with driving while intoxicated.

GREAT BRITAIN IS PLANNING TO INVOKE WASHINGTON PACT

AGREEMENT GUARANTEEING CHINESE TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY IS CITED

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
GENEVA, Sept. 23.—(P)—Great Britain was understood today to be planning to invoke the Washington pact guaranteeing China's territorial integrity as a last resort to bring Japan to an international conference to stop the Sino-Japanese war.

Such a move would have the additional advantage of bringing the United States into full cooperation on measures to halt the far Eastern conflict—a step considered essential if the peace effort is to meet with success.

Geneva circles considered that Japan, while ignoring league of nations initiatives, would scarcely refuse a nine power consultation under the treaty she signed in Washington in 1922 with China, the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal and Belgium.

The signatories agreed to respect the sovereignty and independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China. These things China has charged before the League of Nations Japan is violating by an undeclared war "of aggression."

Under the treaty the signatories agree whenever a situation arises "which in the opinion of any one of them involves the application of the stipulations," there shall be full and frank communication between the contracting parties.

The nine-power treaty is being considered as the best means of approach to the problem because the adhering nations have direct Far Eastern interests. Some countries on the League advisory committee, on the other hand, have no such direct interests.

INSURGENTS OPENED COMBINED OFFENSIVE TO CAPTURE GIJON

HENDAYE, France—Spanish Frontiers, Sept. 23.—(P)—Spanish insurgents were reported today to have opened a concerted offensive by land, sea and air to smash the Asturian "iron ring" defense of Gijon.

The insurgent brigades took additional villages and wrested more lofty positions from the defense troops, the daily insurgent communiqué said.

While the insurgents waged this great campaign to dislodge the government completely from northwestern Spain, government forces were said to have pushed into enemy territory on the southern front and to have executed a victorious surprise attack on the upper Aragon front, within 15 miles of the French frontier.

REPORTED ATTORNEY IN DENHARDT CASE BEEN THREATENED

MAN WHO WAS WITH DENHARDT WHEN SLAIN SAYS WILL APPEAR, HOWEVER

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Sept. 23.—(P)—Disclosure that an attorney for Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, victim of one of Kentucky's most sensational slayings, had received three threatening letters heightened interest in the case today.

The disclosure came as this city prepared to pay final respects to a home town boy who became one of the Bluegrass state's outstanding political and military figures, only to die in a hall of bullets fired by the revenge-seeking brothers of the woman, the commonwealth alleged Denhardt slew.

Rodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, who was with Denhardt when the 61-year-old "stormy petrel" of Kentucky politics was shot down on the main street in Shelbyville Monday night, revealed he was warned in one note "not to come up."

He expressed belief the veiled threat was the same as the one scheduled tomorrow at Shelbyville for the brothers—Jack, Roy and E. S. Garr—charged with murder.

"I'll go up Friday, though," Myers said. "Someone might get me, but I'm going."

Business Better In Month August Research Shows

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—(P)—Bigger payrolls, more automobiles bought and more businesses organized in August than the same month in 1936 constituted the essence of a recent University of Texas Bureau of Business Research report.

Some 1,800 establishments employed 91,222 workers or 7.9 per cent more than in August last year who received $2,333,941 weekly or 23.9 per cent more than the workers were getting in the same month of 1936.

Automobiles registered gained 7.1 per cent and 6.8 per cent more corporations were chartered. The new businesses in August numbered 141 with their capitalization jumped 74.4 per cent totaling $4,630,000.

Russian Czarist Disappeared From Paris Wednesday

PARIS, Sept. 23.—(P)—Gen. Eugene de Miller, leader of the now mythical "white army" of Russia, was reported today to have vanished after a mysterious rendezvous which the aging czarist himself suspected as a possible trap.

The case was given a broader aspect shortly after the first report when the family of former Russian General Skolnikoff linked vaguely in the affair by a note De Miller had left, reported that he also had dropped from sight.

The twin disappearances were veiled by a dark aura of international intrigue. Police telegraphed frontier posts and provincial stations to keep watch for De Miller, fearing he had been abducted.

Summer Skipped Away Early Today But Still Hot

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—(P)—Summer by the astronomer's calendar made its official departure at 6:18 a. m. today but it left a lot of high temperatures behind.

Fair and warmer was the forecast for a broad expanse of the nation which yesterday experienced temperatures that hit the 100 degree mark.

RESIDENTS NAVARRO COUNTY TELL NEED OF FLOOD CONTROL

CLOSING SESSION OF HEARING HELD HERE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

Additional testimony on needs of flood control and soil conservation in Navarro county was presented at the afternoon and closing session of the hearing conducted by Louis P. Merrill of the Department of Agriculture Wednesday afternoon.

A. A. Allison, postmaster and landowner, was the first speaker and recalled the extensive damages from flood waters in this county during May, 1935, and September, 1936. He also reviewed former practices of wearing out land and then moving to new, the same land which was worn out and then moved to new, the same land which was worn out and then moved to new.

He declared that it was both criminal and insane for the soil to have been so neglected, and that unless the support of every one was received a tragedy would result. He added that the dream of canalization of the Trinity would be useless if the soil was not preserved to supply the raw

RECENT HEAVY DECLINE EAST TEXAS OIL FIELD BOTTOM HOLE PRESSURE ATTRACTS INTEREST

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL
AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—(P)—There was considerable speculation here today over what is going to be done about the declining bottom-hole pressure in the great East Texas oil field.

Whatever affects the world's largest producing field is of interest to the industry everywhere. When the field was opened about seven years ago, the pressure from water below the oil was about 1,800 pounds to the square inch. On Sept. 12 it was 1,181.33, which represented a decline of 12.89 pounds in 30 days and which engineers of the railroad commission, administrator of oil and gas conservation statutes in Texas, said was "excessive."

There had been similar heavy drops in the two previous months after a long period when it was virtually stationary.

Now the question is being asked, what will the commission do about it, and, more to the point, what can it do? Members of the three-man board are not inclined to answer the queries at this time, at least for publication. Yet it is known they have the situation under consideration.

Testimony at statewide pronouncement hearings, including one held three days ago, repeatedly has been to the effect that bottom-hole pressure drops when oil is taken from the reservoir too rapidly. Some operators at the most recent hearing obviously

CIVILIAN SECTORS OF HONG KONG ARE ATTACKED FROM AIR

MOST OF VICTIMS WERE REFUGEES FROM OTHER PARTS OF WAR-TORN CHINA

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—(P)—Two thousand Chinese, most of them refugees, are estimated to have been killed or injured in two day's Japanese aerial bombardment of Canton, South China city.

The raids, today and yesterday, left weeping women and wailing children searching the ruins of densely-packed dwelling areas of the poorer classes.

Thousands roam the streets bewildered and almost deranged with anguish and terror.

The Japanese bombing of non-combatants throughout air force nation's seaboard provinces and northern areas extended to Tsinanfu, capital of Shantung province, when a lone invader flew over a suburb and loosed one bomb, wounding nine civilians.

The United States embassy reiterated its urging that Americans evacuate to Tientsin, Shantung port, and thence to Manila. Thirty Japanese bombers raided Kiangling, first strong fortifications below Chingking between Shanghai and Nanking.

Japanese launched a wholesale aerial raid on Chinese positions in Fooking, below Shanghai, with 17 bombers reported participating. It was Footing's second air raid today.

To Continue Bombings.

Japanese naval authorities declared that the attack force intended to continue bombings "in order to bring the war to an early conclusion."

Japanese planes and warships joined in today's bombardment of Canton and Hainan, causing widespread damage.

Nanking, earmarked by the Japanese for destruction as the seat of Chinese resistance, was not spared this morning, however, as the Japanese were apparently preoccupied with the sea lanes of American, British, French and German protests against unrestricted bombardment of the civilian population.

Some observers, on the other hand, believed that Nanking's momentary safety from air force was due to the prevailing bad weather and poor visibility and both government and people prepared for an eventual onslaught which would make the 16th successive air raid on the capital since hostilities began.

Warplanes which yesterday bombed Canton, China's metropolis 500 miles southwest of here, five times, killing an estimated 300 civilians, returned to the attack in the early morning.

Chinese defense planes rose to give battle and thousands gaped in the streets at the thrilling dog-fights overhead. There were no reports of any casualties on either side.

Shells from the Japanese fleet of Hainan, struck the terminal of the Lunghai railway, the trunk road that runs from Hainan across Central China.

The Sino-Japanese war ceased on all fronts today as far as the Chinese were concerned—but it was only for ten minutes. At dawn the quarter of a million Japanese soldiers on the North China

INTERESTING TRIP ABROAD ENJOYED BY CORSICANA YOUTH

Dr. and Mrs. J. E. McClung are in receipt of a letter from their son, John Edmond McClung, dated from London, Eng., Sept. 10, in which he tells them of his interesting trip abroad. At the time he wrote the letter he had just returned to London after several days spent in Paris and other continental places.

John Edmond enjoyed his visit in Paris, but said he was glad to get back to London, because it is much cleaner, and more like the United States in many ways. He said he saw all the ruins, museums and foreigners that he wanted to see, and that Paris is too dirty and noisy.

In Paris, he said, the smartest shops are showing entire windows of dark red purses of all sizes and shapes, but the simple, modern designs seemed to predominate. The shops were showing gloves of the same color, to be worn with the purses.

From Paris to London, John Edmond traveled with three interesting and entertaining persons, a man and his wife from Ceylon, en route to America. The man is a doctor in Colombo, and on his way to Boston as a guest of the Rockefeller Foundation, where he will study for a year as their guest. The other fellow passenger was Raymond Taylor from Fair Mead, Fraser Road, Calverly, Yorkshire, who is about John Edmond's age. He is a graduate of Cambridge, and majored in history. John Edmond planned to visit him before leaving England.

Appreciation From Retired Minister And His Companion

Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. F. Adams and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Bunch, Mrs. Hardin and Mrs. Miles, appeared at the anniversary home at 2012 West Collin street and gave the inmates one of the finest poundings it has ever been their privilege to enjoy.

We were inclined to think it was because Santa Claus had brought Rev. Mr. Adams a new car and he wanted to try it out and see what it could do, but he stoutly denied the charge and declared the pounding was wholly the result of the efforts of his missionary society.

We were glad indeed to have these people in our home and appreciate very much their thoughtfulness just at this time of the year. These kindly remembrances mean much to the retired men both for the material value they contain and also the love they express. We thank every one who made the fine gift possible and hope that we shall be able to serve them in some humble way.

LEAVE FOR MARKETS BUY MILLINERY FOR REASONABLE SHOP

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Nathan left yesterday for Dallas, St. Louis, Chicago and the other Eastern millinery markets. There they will see and purchase for the Reasonable Millinery Shops the newest styles in ladies hats that will immediately be sent and shown in their store, The Reasonable Hat Shop, next week.

Mr. Nathan said before leaving that the only way that he could continue to show the tremendous gains that he is having over last year is by getting these new styles that are now for the first time being shown in the above markets. They will be home one day next week.

Incidentally, he also stated that he would purchase a nice selection of bags that will be Paris reproductions.

GREATEST SPECTACLE OF KIND EVER SEEN ON FIFTH AVENUE

(TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND
FORMER SOLDIERS MARCH IN HOMECOMING SPIRIT

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(P)—Two hundred thousand veterans of the great war marched up Fifth Avenue today in the greatest parade this city of notable parades, vast and magnificent spectacles has ever known.

It was not just another American Legion convention parade. To thousands it was a homecoming after 18 years, and it brought a resurgence of those feelings of happiness and gratitude that marked the victory marches of 1919. These same men, now older, grayer, stouter, slower, were then striplings with hard muscles and weather-beaten faces fresh from manning the artillery and the trenches in France. That high movement of emotions which band music brings was evident long before the parade actually got under way at 8:55 a. m. (daylight time) within the shadow of the eternal light at Madison Square. The throngs were plainly in good spirit. The day, happily, was pleasant for marching and for watching, and veterans stepped along gaily.

Long before the movement of Legionnaires got under way, New York—at least that part of its citizenry which could get away from the daily job—had moved into Fifth avenue, parking along the curbs with box lunches and thermos bottles, swarming in from the side streets, filling the countless windows of the tall buildings.

They were happy to watch for hours, for the police officials, putting 5,071 men along the line of march to keep order, estimated the vast body of Legionnaires would be moving uptown for 18 hours.

Headed by a detachment of 75 New York City motorcycle policemen, all members of the Legion, the men started up Fifth avenue, Marching 16 abreast, eyes bright with joy, shoulders straight, proud of bearing.

The head of the parade—the combined Legion posts of the New York City police department, Grand Marshal Ray Murphy of Iowa and his staff, and the honorary grandmarshals and staffs and detachments of the United States army, navy and marines, reached the reviewing stand at 50th street about half an hour after the parade started.

Commander Harry V. Colmery, eyes red from sleepless hours, had been in the stand for close to an hour. He looked about him to see thousands of men, women and children, jammed on the sidewalks as far as the eye could see.

He was joined by Major General James Harbord, retired, Mayor and Governor in Line.

They watched together as the vanguard swung up the street. Mayor F. H. La Guardia, a wartime colonel, marched smartly with Major General William N. Haskell, commander of the 27th division, New York National Guard.

Although official Legion sessions were adjourned until tomorrow, many reunions and receptions were scheduled throughout the day. Committee members, drafting resolutions expected to prove more controversial than any submitted at recent Legion conventions, worked overtime.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, speaking at the national commanders' dinner last night, said the United States in its pursuit of peace should avoid extremes and follow a policy of "enlightened nationalism."

Secretary Hull said the nation would have to steer a middle course between utter isolation from world affairs and complete entanglement in them if it wished to avoid war.

Would Be Closing Eyes.

Uttor isolation, he declared, "would be closing our eyes to the realities of the world today, and assuming, like the courtiers of King Chanute, that the rising tide of international anarchy can be stopped before it reaches us."

On the other hand, extreme internationalism would mean "abdicating our independence of judgment, abandoning our traditional policy of non-entanglement, and being drawn into the rivalries and disputes of other nations."

"Peace is not only the goal of the idealist," he said, "it is at the same time the basis of the practical preservation."

Former President Herbert Hoover was a surprise guest at the dinner, attended also by 17 state governors, Secretary of War Harry Woodring and Legation chiefs.

In a brief speech—one of his few public addresses since leaving the White House—Mr. Hoover urged "adequate preparation for national defense."

"Peace is not a dynamic thing," he said. "The maintenance of peace has as many dynamic requirements as the conduct of war."

Mr. Hoover praised Secretary Hull, who spoke before him, as

Definite Count Show Pig Tails Curl Both Ways

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(P)—The agriculture department straightened out today that periodically puzzling porcine problem—does the pig's tail curl to the right or left?

Hear ye, Hear ye—it goes both ways.

"The answer," said J. H. Zellner of the Bureau of Animal Industry's swine division, "is that there are few things so consistent as the inconsistency of the pig's tail-curl."

The route of the porcine twist is not something to be reckoned from charts and graphs. There's only one course for researchers—plain tail counting.

So they counted.

The tail-tellers marched in among 200 many-sided and deviously colored pigs and took a quick but systematic count. The result was:

88 rights.

88 lefts.

Four borderline cases.

So ends—the government hopes—this pig tale.

a public official who "holds our confidence and good will."

Campaign Is Hot.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(P)—Campaigners for the five candidates for the office of national commander of the American Legion were feverishly button-holing delegates at the parade swept up Fifth avenue today.

Well out in front were Ray Kelly, Detroit corporation counsel, and Daniel Doherty, Boston attorney. Each is estimated to have already been pledged between 300 and 500 votes.

In the event of a deadlock, however, veterans of Legion politics say that it is possible many of these votes would be swung to one of the other three candidates. They were Lyman U. Starnigh, attorney, of Fargo, N. D.; Milo J. Warner, attorney, of Toledo, O.; and Stephen S. Chadwick, attorney, of Seattle, Wash.

The election is Thursday.

DELEGATIONS TELL OF DRASTIC NEEDS FOR FLOOD CONTROL

HEARING CONDUCTED BY
LOUIS P. MERRILL HERE
WEDNESDAY MORNING

By CHARLTON GUNTER
Daily Sun Staff.

Delegations from a majority of the twelve counties embraced in the immediate area of the Trinity River watershed presented testimony as to the drastic need of flood control supported by a wide program of soil conservation at the second of a series of hearings conducted for the department of agriculture by Louis P. Merrill, regional coordinator, held Wednesday morning in the district courtroom of the Navarro county courthouse.

The meeting recessed at noon after only a brief report had been made of Navarro county needs and conditions, and these were scheduled for the afternoon along with an open discussion of the proposed watershed plan of action.

Mr. Merrill presided at the meeting and a stenographic report was made of the proceedings. In his introductory remarks, the presiding official said that these hearings marked a departure in regular sessions of the department of agriculture.

New Responsibility.

He pointed out it represented a new responsibility for the department of agriculture, and that the previous work had been devoted principally to the main streams with little regard to extensive tributary systems, both major and minor. He said that recent knowledge had indicated the number of minor floods and the crests of the major floods could be reduced through concerted water and soil conservation measures.

G. E. Adams, state agent for the extension service, was present and expressed regret that the attendance at the meeting was not larger. He declared that soil conservation was the most serious problem confronting the state today, and particularly in the black land sections. He asserted the service could devote its efforts for the next several years to conservation of the rich black soil and if successful would rank as the major triumph of the Conservation Conditions.

He contrasted the conditions in the black land belt with that of other sections, stating that the eastern sandy soils could come back in a hundred years, but that the black land belt embracing four counties from Red River to Bexar counties was the most valuable in the state, and only recently had the owners realized that it would wash away and then had done nothing about it.

Mr. Adams said the extension service had been working on the problem and had made some mistakes as the methods had changed with increased knowledge. He said some nine million acres had been terraced through efforts of the service.

He asserted the present generation had a greater responsibility because of the greater knowledge available now, and that if the present soil is lost the entire population of the black land area would be forced to move to other areas in order to survive. He declared that any soil conservation movement would doubtless make more mistakes in the future but at least future generations would give credit for saving as much of the soil as possible.

Attention was called to questionnaires submitted to county agents of the area to get answers to specific questions needed for the final report.

Gives Co-Operation.

Ted L. Edwards, representative of the Texas State Park Board, was present and stated his department had co-operated to its utmost ability with the conservation movement and expressed appreciation for assistance given his work by the Department of Agriculture in their efforts to conserve all of the natural resources of the state.

James W. Browning of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of Washington; Dr. L. J. Pessin of the U. S. Forest Service of New Orleans; Howard Malson, head of the engineering section of the regional office; and P. H. Walser, state co-ordinator, were introduced to those in attendance.

Referring to the information sent to the county agents, Mr. Merrill asked that those addressing the hearing restrict their remarks to specific examples of soil losses, increased droughts, lower yields and water levels, lower incomes, increase in number of floods, etc.

Johnson and Van Zandt counties were represented at the morning session and Jilson McCullough of Kemp, Kaufman county, was the first speaker, representing the Grange organization in two counties. He asserted his Grange was vitally interested in both flood control and soil conservation, and that plenty of losses had been suffered from floods and erosion.

Judge John W. Balow, Commissioner Mitchell, and County Agent R. W. McCowan made up the Henderson county delegation, the latter filled his completed questionnaire. He stated the watershed area covered about three-fifths of the county with some 108,000 acres in cultivation, with erosion reported heavy. He said overflow damage was extensive after unusually heavy rains.

Much Work Needed.

R. H. Ellis, county commissioner, and Alfred S. Brient, county agent, represented Hill county. The county agent said his county was drained both by the Trinity and the Brazos, and much conservation work had been done but more was needed.

The agent said his county's greatest need was a larger personnel for laying out proper work since equipment was available for construction. Commissioner Ellis gave an instance of preventing continued road damage by the proper terracing of an adjoining farm, and said the terracing idea was contagious when once started. As a result of the heavy rains in September, 1936, lumber bills for replacement of bridges on the Trinity and the Brazos far exceeded losses on the Brazos side.

Situation Serious in Ellis.

The Ellis county delegation was composed of W. M. Love, county agent, T. James of Ennis, and Roy Wood of Italy. The county agent said the situation was serious in Ellis county with lower yields, heavier water levels, and erosion. He said he had received reports that the Ennis reservoir had been half filled by silt in the past 25 years, and the County Club lake at Waxahatchie had filled in fifteen feet, fishing and swimming holes were reported eliminated from streams and several deep water wells had to be reworked because of lowering of water levels.

Mr. James declared the main need in the northern part of the county was for flood control, adding that Ellis county contributed as much as any other area to the flood waters of the Trinity river, and naturally, accompanied by heavy flood damage and soil loss. He said the increased number of floods was noticeable as the channels were filled, and long bridges needed formerly had been replaced by culverts in many instances and many farms eroded so badly they had to be abandoned. He reported land values on a basis of productivity had dropped fifty per cent in twenty years.

Mr. Sanderson credited the CCC camp in Ellis county with aiding in making the farmers soil conservation conscious. In answer to a question he stated if proper conservation methods accompanied opening up of the creek beds, the channels would not fill again for years. He declared there was no county in the state more alive to the need of conservation work than Ellis.

Farm Production Decreased.

Mr. Wood stated that records of farms in Ellis county showed in instances maximum productions a few years ago of 200 bushels of sweet potatoes, or two bales of cotton, or 75 bushels of corn per acre. He said average yields in recent years were 30-40 bushels of potatoes, a fourth to a third of a bale of cotton and about 25 bushels of corn, and many of the formerly productive farms had been abandoned. He pointed out that some of his land traversed by Mill creek had a channel two-thirds smaller than the channel at the head of the stream, and that in many instances sloughs had been formed that carried more water than the main channels. He declared the need was for a watershed plan of action but in many cases it was impossible because of lack of finances.

In answer to a question, Mr. Wood said he thought that it would be necessary to have cooperation of all parties on a watershed to make the work effective.

State Representative J. J. Kelt, Navarro county, was present and recalled that H. soil conservation bill was introduced in the legislature that had later been voted against by its sponsors and the governor urged to veto it, which provisions were inserted that made it impossible to enforce cooperation of all parties on a single watershed. He suggested that if proper soil conservation was enforced the filled creek channels clean themselves out, and declared he was in favor of using every available means of saving what soil remains.

Flood, Limestone and Freestone counties failed to answer when called.

People Are Interested.

H. H. Dietz of Palestine appeared to represent county officials and the Chamber of Commerce at Palestine. He said his people were vitally interested in the plan, particularly the flood control features, since they had thousands of acres in the bottom sections that were expensive to operate and suffered heavily from flood damage. He said most of the bottom lands harvested only half a crop last year because of flood, and that the average over a period of years was about one crop out of five in the lowlands, accompanied by heavy livestock losses. He said wild life in the lakes and wooded areas was almost extinct now because of continued flood ravages.

County Agent H. C. Robinson said the report on Navarro county would be filed within a few days and that he was not familiar with conditions in the county except by hearsay. He estimated that some 400,000 acres of the 600,000 acres in cultivation in the county needed conservation treatment, and pointed to a decrease in yield over a period of years from 250 pounds of lint per acre to 140, the present average, which is an increase over previous lows.

R. W. Knight, a secretary of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, said a supplemental brief would be filed by his organization within a few days to the county agent's report. In a brief address he asserted the problem had gotten beyond the control of the average farmer and collective action embracing all agencies, business men and farmers and governmental, must cooperate to salvage the remaining soil.

PLANS TO BATTLE AGAINST CUTS IN MARGINAL WELLS

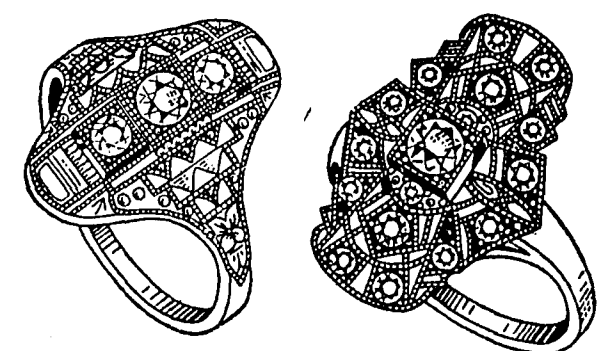

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—(P)—Sen. Joe T. Hill of Henderson said today he was prepared to wage a determined fight, if necessary, at the approaching legislative session against curtailment of the production allowances of marginal oil wells.

Considerable doubt has arisen as to the power of the railroad commission to cut the output of the famous East Texas field in the face of the marginal well law, which permits the poorer pumping wells in that field to produce up to 20 barrels a day.

Hill said, however, he doubted Governor Alfred would submit such a controversial subject as changing the marginal well law at his revenue raising special session.

The Henderson Senator, whose district embraces most of the East Texas pool, said that if pumping wells there were cut to a maximum of 15 barrels a day "they never would be able to pay out."

"Total production of the East Texas field cannot be cut legally, in my opinion," he continued, "and it shouldn't be. The bottom-hole pressure situation there is not alarming."

Our establishment is known for its high grade diamonds and correct, superlatively designed mountings. For the right ring come here.

ROOSEVELT PLANS FOUNDATION FOR DISEASE RESEARCH

IMPENDING ORGANIZATION OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS FOUNDATION ANNOUNCED

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
ABOARD ROOSEVELT TRAIN
EN ROUTE TO SEATTLE, Sept. 23. — President Roosevelt changed his original plans and decided to make his first rear platform appearance of his west coast tour this afternoon at Clinton, Ia.

The decision was made after his tenor special left the Chicago West Side, where charges of ku klux klan affiliation against Associate Justice Hugo L. Black figured in a general talk with Illinois democratic leaders. From Adolph J. Sabath, Chicago democrat, told newsmen he had informed the President that the Black incident had done more good than harm.

"We have great many people think that has been bad publicity," Sabath has done more to eliminate the ku klux klan," Sabath said.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — (AP) Public health service officials welcomed today President Roosevelt's announcement of the impending organization of an infantile paralysis foundation.

From his research, they said, may come the all-important explanation of what causes the disease.

Many, many laboratories still are fumbling for the cause," commented Dr. Robert Olesen, an assistant surgeon general.

"We have made headway in treatment, but as for cause and prevention, we still have to talk in glittering generalities."

Mr. Roosevelt drew on his own experience as a victim of the disease in describing the need for launching an adequately-financed campaign through which one national body would "lead, direct and unify the fight on every phase of this sickness."

"Those who today are fortunate in being in full possession of their muscular power," he said, "naturally do not understand what it means to a human being paralyzed by this disease to have that powerless lifted even to a small degree."

"It means the difference between a human being dependent on others, and an individual who can be wholly independent."

The disease, also called poliomyelitis, wrecks its greatest ravages on children. The children's bureau reported last year that three of every 100,000 children were the victims of infantile paralysis.

The new foundation, as envisioned by the President, would carry on investigations into the cause, prevention, treatment and every medical possibility of enabling those so afflicted to become economically independent."

COR. 5TH AND BEATON

TRINITY RIVER

Early Days Recalled.
J. A. Bonner of Eureka stated that he was completing his forty-ninth year on his farm and had always done everything in his power to save the soil. He said his early production was from 25 to 40 bushels of corn and one-half to three-quarters of a bale of cotton per acre while now they were satisfied with 20 bushels of corn per acre and a quarter of a bale of cotton.

He recalled that in former days cotton was sent down the Trinity river to Houston while now it would be impossible to drift a bale 300 yards. In answer to questions he stated that gullies started on his sandy land the second year it was cultivated and had continued ever since, in spite of all efforts to prevent it suggested by county agents and others. He said he believed the plan outlined by the directors of the present CCC unit would work.

He took issue with a statement made at the morning session that it was futile to attempt conservation methods unless all on a watershed participated, asserting that it would be better if all joined but he had found out long ago that "if a fellow does not look out for himself, no one else will."

Clyde Kimes, field representative of the Navarro County Rural Electric Association, sponsors of an REA project, described several instances of soil erosion noted in surveys of the county, including one adjoining the watershed of the municipal lake at Dawson; sheet erosion effects between Emmett and Pelham; gully erosion in the Elm Flat vicinity; and abandonment of farms because of erosion in the Bazette area.

He said that the REA planned to go only into the progressive communities who were practicing soil conservation, feeling that fate of others neglecting the soil made their status doubtful. He said his project extended for 478 miles, with 1980 signed up users, and 122 projects.

Farmers Sold on Idea.
H. J. Keathley of Purdon said that he believed all of the real farmers were sold on the idea and mainly needed education in methods. He cited examples of proper and improper farming on adjoining tracts of land. He insisted that the problem was not of concern to the next generation but to the present, and that the farmers must get a real interest in the movement in addition to being taught when and how to conserve soil.

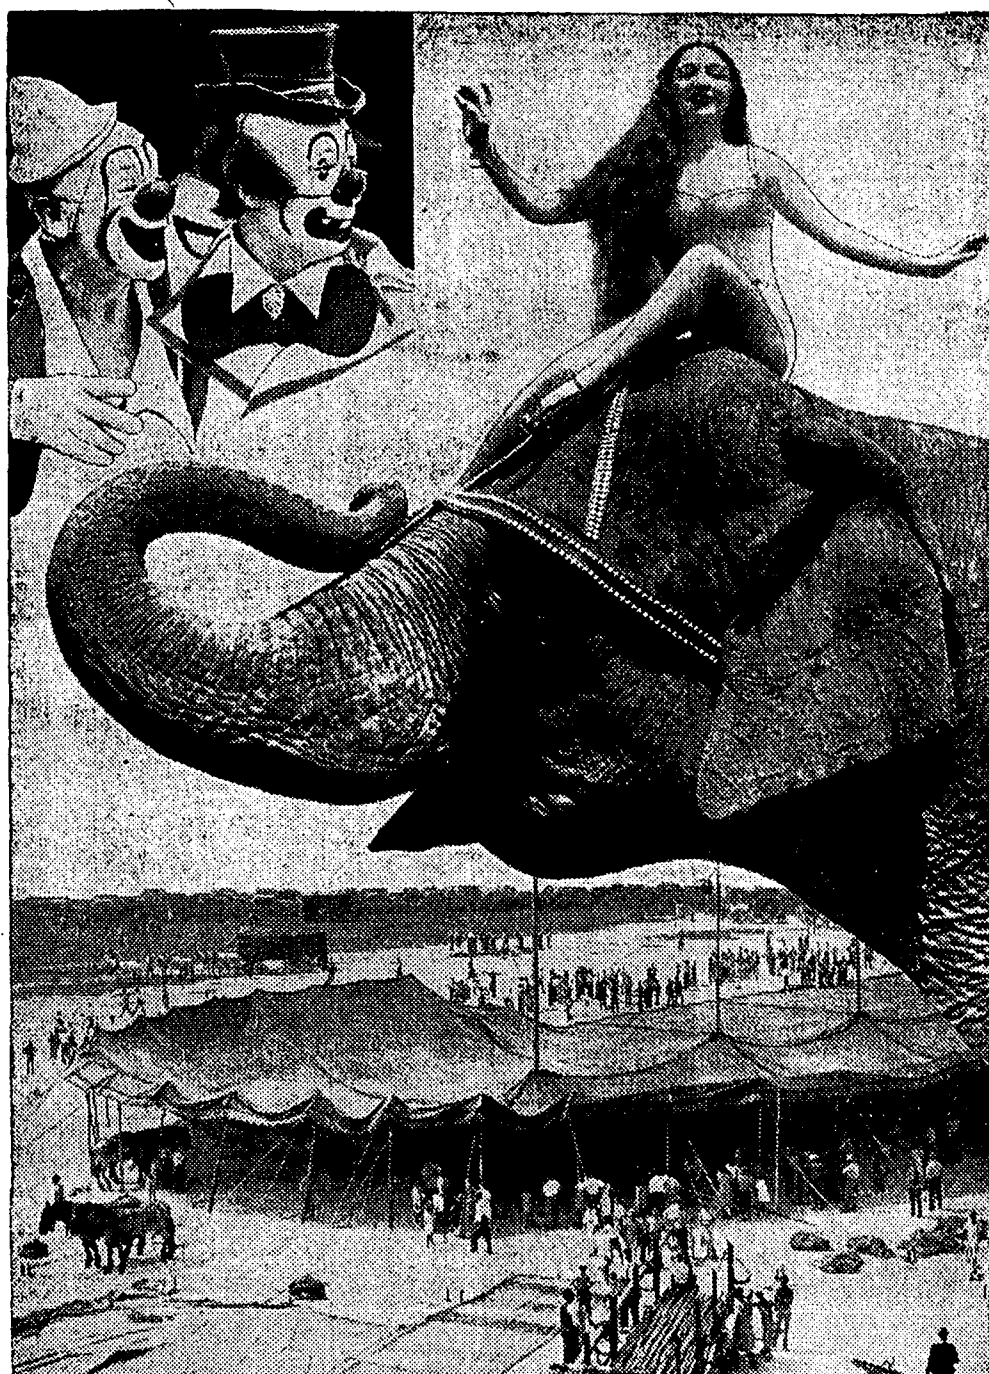

"What should be done in Navarro county to advance soil conservation?" was a question put to Mr. Keathley by Mr. Merrill, and the former replied that the question was too big for him, but the principal need was education. Tenancy was given as a contributing factor to continued soil losses.

Joe Edens Anderson, owner of land between Richland and Tuhana creeks, reported overflows had caused such damage that the land had been retired from cultivation to pasture. He stated most of the damage was done by backwater, rather than overflows as a direct result of heavy rains.

The hearing adjourned about 3 o'clock, and the third and final in the series was scheduled for Madisonville Thursday.

WORLD'S LARGEST CIRCUS HERE TOMORROW

Leaping like camels from crag to crag, small boys were enjoying dummy practice in mountain climbing in the open today at the old ball park. Great mounds of baled hay and straw provided the synthetic peaks and precipices. Boyhood's vivid imagination did the rest. While the youngsters scaled the towering ramparts that loomed in their fancy, snow-white against the sky, men with tapelines were moving about the grounds, driving stakes in strange geometrical designs, supervised by one of the 24-hour men 48 hours ahead of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey combined circus, which comes to town on its four railroad trains of 100 seventy-foot steel cars with tomorrow's dawn.

The piles of baled hay and straw are, of course, for the gratification of the "inner men" of the 7 herds of elephants, and 1,000 menagerie animals and 700 horses with The Greatest Show on Earth, and added to the fun the kids were having romping on them, is the anticipation that tomorrow is circus day—the Big Show's circus day.

Before dark tonight the 24-hour men will have the lot laid out for the 31 great tents of the world's largest circus. All supplies for the feeding and comfort of nearly 2,000 animals and fully 1,600 people (and all of this huge order is purchased locally, mind you) will be in place on the proper spots about the lot. Roads and streets leading to the railroad unloading crossings, and the crossings themselves, will be prepared for the big red wagons and the proud, sleek and magnificent six and eight-horse teams of dappled greys, bays and blacks that haul them—the beloved horses that three hundred drivers and grooms watch over as tenderly as a young mother cares for her first-born.

So, the dawn will resound to the clatter of hundreds of shod hooves and the rolling of sun-burst wagon wheels, many of them with balloon tires encompassing the radiating rainbows,

but all of them rolling under loads of amazing fascination. Before noon the city of canvas, giant mushroom-like billows that cluster around the world's largest big top, will be guyed taut and sound under the whipping banners and pennants. All will be set for the opening spectacle, "India," the new and special pageant that starts the performance at 2 and 8 p. m. tomorrow, in which 2,000 people and animals take part.

Among the 800 aerial, ground, stage and track headline artists that make the seven-ring-and-stage performance the finest in the glorious history of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey combined circus are scores of new European and Asiatic families and troupes. Never before has the Big Show crammed so much of beauty, laughter and thrills under its six lofty aligned canvas domes. It is truly a world over concentrated at your doors.

Bread Prices High, Flour, Ingredients Lower Than Year Ago

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23. — (AP) Federal officials reported today that retail bread prices were the highest in seven years although flour prices and other ingredients averaged less recently than a year ago.

D. B. Montgomery, consumer's counsel of the agricultural adjustment administration said both average wages and total payroll in the baking industry were higher than a year ago but added that "available labor cost figures indicate that wages account for only a part of the enlarged spread between ingredient costs and wholesale bread prices."

SINO-JAP

Then they resumed their grim business of fighting, this being the 78th day of Japan's undeclared war against China which has thus far resulted in a virtual stalemate.

From Ningpo, 100 miles South of here in Chekiang province 115 American war refugees started for Shanghai aboard the British steamer Hsinpoking, escorted by the United States destroyer Stewart.

United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and his staff returned to the embassy, which they had evacuated in compliance with a Japanese warning that the safety of foreigners could not be considered.

The bombproof dugout in the garden of the embassy was empty today but was in readiness for instant occupation in the event of a Japanese raid.

Japanese Announce Successes in North

PEIPING, Sept. 23. — (AP) — Japanese military authorities announced today that their army had shattered the Chinese concrete defense line north of Paotingfu and had driven the Chinese back in hand-to-hand fighting to within a mile of that strategic base 80 miles south of here.

Sharp anxiety was felt for five American citizens who were believed to have remained in Paotingfu, which Japanese warplanes have been bombing daily.

Japanese declared that Kuochuang village, three quarters of a mile north of Paotingfu, fell to their attack at 9:30 a. m. and the capture of the city itself was imminent.

Sixty miles to the east, at the other end of the fortified Chinese line, the Japanese were reported within 200 yards of Tsangchow on the railroad from Tientsin to Nanking.

There were no reports that the Chinese line had been broken at any point except on the extreme western flank in the Paotingfu sector where 60,000 Japanese were attacking.

Claim Many Planes Destroyed

TOKYO, Sept. 23. — (AP) — Japanese claimed today to have destroyed 66 Chinese warplanes during the last three days of repeated air raids on the Chinese capital of Nanking and the Southern China metropolis of Canton.

They added that twelve more might have been brought down but the fate of those was "uncertain."

Missionaries Plan to Carry On.
SHANGHAI, Sept. 23. — (AP) — Despite the deepening threat of the Sino-Japanese war, the governing precept of the United States' army of missionaries in China today was "carry on!"

After an inter-denominational emergency conference, representatives of the principal American missions in China, encompassing upwards of 2,000 missionaries, joined in the statement: "At this hour of China's need we will never withdraw."

This weeping declaration was tempered with a willingness of all missions to permit workers to withdraw if they desired, but the majority stoutly announced their intention to remain.

Modern Kitchens are so Hospitable

You can't keep your guest out . . .

Not that you want to keep guests out of a modern kitchen, but you couldn't if you did. Just let them catch a glimpse of its shining beauty, and they just have to see how things work. They know, too, that all sorts of good things come out of an electric refrigerator. It's smart now to let your guests fix up their own refreshments, there's no better way of making a party go. If you haven't an "entertaining" kitchen, let us show you how you can have one. That's what our kitchen planner is for. There is no charge for this service. We'll give you figures for a complete change, or a step at a time plan.

STEP-BY-STEP PLAN

1. First the refrigerator. It pays dividends in convenience and food savings.
2. An electric range. Cooks economically and prevents baking failures and food shrinkage.
3. Connecting counter and cabinet units to provide ample work space and complete the modernization of the kitchen.
4. An electric sink, with dishwasher, drier and garbage disposal unit.

ANOTHER GOOD MAN STRAYS.
He'd never played the game before.
Now he will rue the day
I took him from his cabin door
A round of golf to play.
But yesterday his time was spent
Pursuing wealth and fame
And he lived happily content
With children and his dame.

But yesterday along the road
A whistling man was he,
He reached at eve his glad abode
Always on time for tea.
He dwelt among the placid souls
Who never sit and pine
And yearn to make for eighteen holes
A score of ninety-nine.

Untouched was he by needless wrath.
Not oft was he annoyed.
The only woes which crossed his path
Were those men can't avoid.
But now his soul will torture be
As long as he's alive
And he will wall in agony
When'er he tops his drive.

He'd never played the game before!
Today he's buying clubs,
And he has joined forevermore
The legion of the dubs.
Now he will come to supper late
And till the day he dies
With millions he will curse the fate
That fashion cuppy lies.

CONVULSIONS FOR INSANITY

Experimentation has been going on for some time in medical centers of Europe and is now beginning in this country with a strange new method for curing certain forms of insanity. The patient is given an overdose of insulin or metrazol which produces convulsions in a few minutes. The convulsions last only a few seconds. They leave the patient in a sort of stupor. He awakes from this in an hour or so, and in many cases he is found to have an improved mental condition. Physicians do not yet understand what happens. But they do know that in the type of insanity known as dementia praecox, they are beginning to have success. The theory, as far as they can guess it, is that dementia praecox is caused by faulty connections in the brain. The convulsions break these wrong connections and after a time right ones are then set up by nature.

So far, it sounds a little like burning down the house to roast the pig. Giving a patient convulsions by an overdose of a powerful drug does have its dangers. And it is too soon to know whether those patients who seem to recover will stay cured, or whether the illness will recur. Not enough cases here and abroad have been treated yet to make generalization trustworthy. But it begins to look as if the medical men have here the germ of something which may be later understood and developed for great benefit to mankind.

There are reports of another sale or two. The best of them go for $1,500, and may be made sea worthy for $15,000, about the price of a fair medium-priced yacht. They will carry 1,000 tons and will tower over everything in a modern harbor. One has gone to Florida to be used as a floating dance hall. Some of them might well be salvaged by committees as museum pieces, to recall a great sea-faring past.

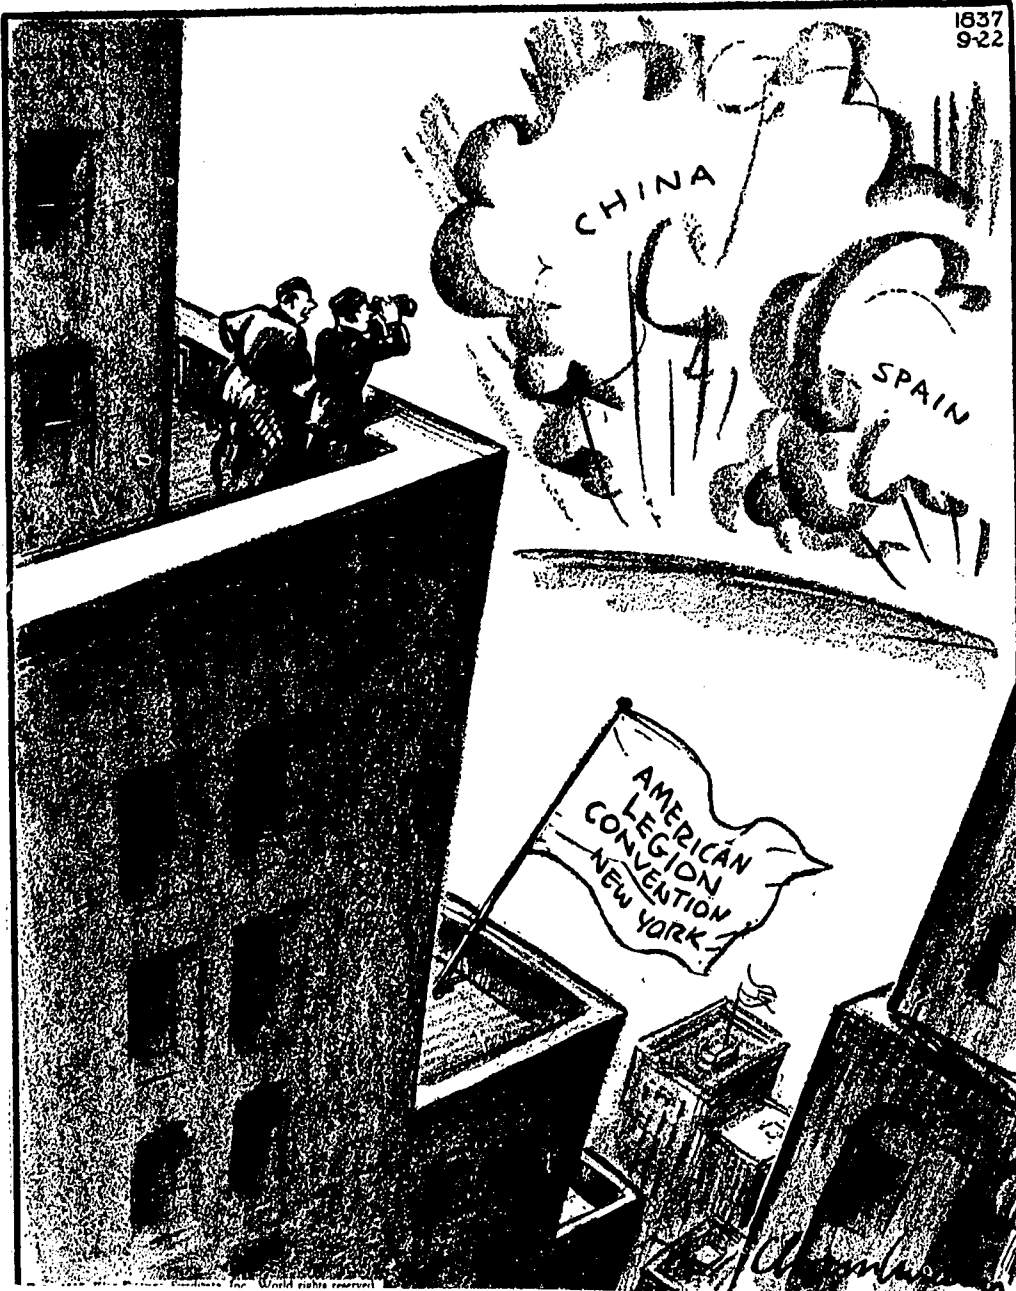

An Englishman kids the Chinks for pronouncing Jehol as "Rah-Ho," and now we'd like to know how he pronounces Knatchbull-Huggessen.

Don't put up with useless PAIN
Get rid of it
When functional pains of menstruation are severe, take CARDUI. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance.

Get a bottle of Cardui and see whether it will help you, as thousands of women have said it helped them. Besides easing certain pains, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from the food they eat.

NEW LAWS

Who says there ought to be a law? Fifty new laws became effective in New York state on September 1. Other state legislatures this year ground out many new laws for their citizens. Some of the laws are good. Some are not. Many may need early revision. Many will be nullified through lack of popular support. Fortunately for most citizens, in New York and the other 47 states, ignorance of the law, while it is no excuse for violating the law, is no crime in itself. Still, it's just as well to read the news from the state capitols while legislatures are in session and know what goes on there. The citizen who leaves all that to the lawmakers may have some unpleasant surprises later on. He may find himself breaking a law he never heard of or find some other one taking a crack at his budget.

RESPONSIBLE LABOR

Perhaps nothing that organized labor groups have done lately meets with more public approval than the decision of the United Automobile Workers of America against "wildcat" strikes, or the calling of strikes without waiting for approval of the Executive Board. It is obviously true, as President Homer Martin says, that "nothing is more dangerous to the labor movement than irresponsibility of divisions within a union." That is dangerous to union labor because it is dangerous to the social order. On the sanctity of contract, as much as anything, depends the stability of society.

Yes, congressmen are human. They acted just like any other bunch that needed a vacation and weren't getting it.

News of County Home Demonstration Clubs

Barry Club.
The Barry Home Demonstration Club met Sept. 15 at the home of Mrs. H. C. DeRusha. The subject for the afternoon was "Patterns of Life." Each member answered the roll call by telling of some trait of character, which inspired them. Some of those named were loyalty, kindness and thoughtfulness. The county fair was discussed and all members urged to do all possible to make the fair a success. There were eight members and one visitor present. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Glena Bell, October 6.—Reporter.

GOVERNOR ALLRED SEES NO DANGER OF REVIVAL OF KLAN

AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—(P)—Governor James V. Allred said today he believed the American people would not tolerate the resurrection of the Ku Klux Klan and there was no danger of any substantial growth of the organization in Texas.

He made the statement in a letter to Joseph H. Biben, magazine publisher of New York City. "I have your letter of Sept. 10 asking for a statement as to my reaction towards a threatened recurrence of the evils of the Ku Klux Klan," he governor said. "You point to recent statements which you say have been issued by the imperial wizard, the grand dragon and other Klan leaders.

"Personally, I cannot believe that the American people will tolerate for one moment the resurrection of this organization, with its creed of intolerance and fresh memories of the outrages perpetrated a little more than ten years ago. Certainly I hope the day will never see those dark days again.

"I am sure I need not remind you of my own personal and official attitude in regard to this organization. I have never been a member of the Klan, and have no patience with its intolerant creed or practices. As district attorney I had to prosecute some of its members a night-time flogging. As a result, I was bitterly opposed in my campaign for re-election.

"I do not believe there is any danger of any substantial growth of this organization again in Texas."

Contest Winner

Miss Dean Minatra (above) Bry-an high school, won the county and district bedroom contest this year and earned a free trip to the annual short course at Texas A. and M. College. The trip could not be taken, however, due to the cancellation of the short course in-ident to the infantile paralysis situation recently.

Miss Minatra was the bedroom demonstrator for her club and the first work done, according to the story written by her after her bedroom exhibit was adjudged the best in this district, was the harmonizing the furniture, etc., in her room, preparing closets, purchase of a bedroom suite, painting the woodwork and the placing of pictures on the walls. A writing desk, polishing of furniture, etc., also was provided. The total cost for the improvement prior to the county contest was $45.

A clothes closet was added to the room after the county judging had been completed and a shoe rack was constructed. The wood-work was repainted and the floors worked over. The walls were repapered at a cost of $30.13, making the entire outlay of money for the district winning bedroom total $75.13.

LADIES SHOP UNDER OWNERSHIP OF TWO CORSICANA GIRLS

Miss Jackie Tate and Miss Elizabeth Elliott announced today that the formal opening of the Ladies' Shop, which they purchased and remodeled early this month, will be held Thursday, and they extend a most cordial invitation to their friends and former patrons of the shop to inspect their new equipment and full lines of ladies' ready to wear.

Miss Tate and Miss Elliott purchased the Ladies' Shop, 114 North Beaton street, Sept. 1, from Dewey Lawley and J. H. Browder of Groesbeck, and since then have remodeled and re-arranged the shop into one of the most attractive in the city. Some new fixtures have been installed and others already in the shop have been refinished in maple color to match the new fixtures. The shop has been re-arranged to provide a commodious salesroom, a comfortable lounge, office, on either side of which is a fitting room, and behind which is a large free alteration department. The store inside of the building has been refinished and air conditioned, and is roomy, comfortable and pleasant.

A complete and modern line of the latest fall fashions has been stocked, including millinery, formal and sport dresswear, suits, coats, lingerie and hose.

Miss Tate is former manager of the Ladies' Shop when it was owned by Mr. Lawley and Mr. Browder, and Miss Elliott is the popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Elliott.

RESERVED FOR Youth

A row of tiny desks... timid figures approaching them for the first time... a teacher's sympathetic smile. Such scenes will be enacted many times throughout the land as school reopens this month.

One of the early lessons these youngsters will learn is the value of thrift. But young as they are, many come to school already knowing what it means to save their pennies—thanks to mothers and fathers who opened bank accounts for them when they were very small.

PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN IN 16-B DISTRICT OUTLINED MONDAY PM

Representatives of the six clubs comprising district 16-B, University of Texas Interscholastic League, met at the Navarro Hotel Monday afternoon and made plans for the approaching season.

A committee composed of J. S. Halley of State Home, Corsicana; W. F. Howard, Ennis, and G. C. Gregory, Teague, was appointed by District Chairman H. O. Whitehurst of Groesbeck to make plans for the selection of an all-star club from the teams to meet in a post-season tilt against a similar club from another class B district.

SENSATIONAL SOFTBALL GAME STAGED RICHLAND WEDNESDAY

Teague Crippled On Eve of Mart Tussle

TEAGUE, Sept. 22.—(Spl.)—A quarterback with tonsillitis, a half back with a badly bitten tongue, a tackle that has gone with the wind, and a game with the Mart Panthers composed four of the outstanding reasons why Coaches Bryan Schley and Bob Porter have been wearing an unusually harried expression this week as they directed workouts for the Teague Lions.

Max Scott, 172-pound quarter, missed practice sessions the first three days of this week, but was expected to be up and about by Thursday. Billy Elliott, 130-pound sparkplug, almost bit his tongue off in a collision on the Marlin football field last week, his workouts thus far being confined to onlooking. Gault Talley, 183-pound tackle, took French leave Monday.

Atkins Popcorn company of Dallas and Missouri Pacific Lines of Dallas, softball teams, battled to a 16-inning game at Richland Wednesday night in the opening of a three-game series on the Richland diamond. Missouri Pacific garnered only three hits while Atkins received only six safeties during the long tussle.

The two teams are slated to meet in the second game Thursday evening.

Lionel Brown hurled the melee for the Dallas contingent, while Chaver, ace of the Palestine staff, tolled for that club.

Brown was credited with 24 strikeouts while Chavers whiffed 15.

mrng and his whereabouts are as yet unknown. The Mart Panthers, fresh from their convincing win over State Home 27-7, cast a black shadow across the path of the crippled Lions.

Backed by the 55 piece high school band, the Lions journey to Mart Friday night as district underdogs, but determined to do their best to make a game out of it and not fall by the wayside in a complete rout.

J. M. Henry Back From Family Reunion Held Near Normangee

J. M. Henry has returned from a reunion of the Henry family near Normangee, Leon county, which was attended by 150 members of the family. He was accompanied by his brother, B. F. Henry, and John Henry and Mrs. Cora Bonnick both of Dallas. Jimmie Henry, Beaumont, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Price and daughter, Evelyn Price, of Corsicana, his children and granddaughter.

The members of the Henry family were mostly first cousins, nieces and nephews, and came from Corsicana, Dallas, Beaumont, Houston, Waco and Madisonville. The reunion, the first ever held by the family, was in a grove on the Barney Henry farm, a nephew of Mr. Henry, near Normangee.

Mr. Henry's brother, B. F. Henry, who went with him is 77 years old; his wife is living, they have ten grown children; 43 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren, and there has not been a death in the immediate family.

Mr. Henry reported having a most enjoyable time at the reunion.

BEN HORN ALLOWED CURRIE SLUGGERS ONLY FOUR HITS

BABE RUTH'S TRIPLE IN THE FOURTH INNING PUT OILERS AHEAD

Girard Oilers and Rice will clash at Magnolia field Sunday afternoon for the championship of the Navarro County Baseball league.

Girard entered the finals Wednesday afternoon with a sensational 4-0 shut-out victory over the Currie Wildcats at Magnolia field, the game Wednesday was necessitated by the 14-11 inning tie game played Sept. 12. Currie is a finalist in the Central Texas class B cup race and plays Lakeview in Waco for the title of that circuit Sunday afternoon.

Rice earned the right to compete for the county league pennant Sunday with a 12-0 decision over the Corsicana Cotton Millers.

Ben Horn, right-hander with Girard, was in rare form, allowing only four hits during the game and never being in danger. He was accorded sensational support by his mates, however, who hustled throughout. Terrell Traweek, former Palestine and San Antonio professional pitcher, went the route for the Wildcats. His support was not up to that accorded Horn, but neither was his pitching performance for the afternoon.

The contest was unreeled in one hour and 29 minutes and both clubs hustled through each inning.

First Scores

The first tallies came in the fourth inning.

D. K. Robinson was safe at first base on an error by Farmer. Cecil McClanahan laid down a sacrifice bunt to Bolin, advancing Robinson Maxwell, second-sacker, doubled down the left field line and Robinson over-ran third but returned and tagged up and was held there. Adolph Ruth, former professional player, catcher for Girard Wednesday, tripled down the right field line, scoring Robinson and Maxwell. Burrow fanned and Burleson flied out to center to end the inning. The third tally came in the sixth inning. Robinson singled to right and Burrows singled sharply to right field, scoring Robinson. Burrows fanned. Burrows fanned after scoring as a runner for Robinson and Burleson forced Ruth at second. The final run came in the eighth after McClanahan's grounder was dropped by Farmer at short. Robinson had opened that inning by fanning. Maxwell flied to right field. Ruth walked. Burrows singled sharply to right field, scoring McClanahan, but was out. Carr to T. Traweek to Williams when he attempted to stretch the single to a two-bagger after McClanahan had scored.

Currie did not seriously threaten to score. In the first inning Farmer doubled, was sacrificed to third and Traweek flied to right field. Burleson threw Farmer out at the plate after the catch. Bolin opened the eighth inning with a double, but was thrown out on the next play on an infield out.

NEW STUDEBAKER MODELS ARRIVED LOCAL SHOWROOMS

New 1938 Studebaker models have been received by R. E. (Bob) Irvine, Corsicana distributor, and are now on display in the local salesrooms on West Third avenue, near North Beaton. Mr. Irvine has recently returned from the Studebaker factories where all of the dealers saw the new models in process of assembly.

The new line will include three sizes, the Commander and President, both eight cylinder products, and the new Studebaker Six. All of the new vehicles have more completely streamlined exteriors, roomier interiors with more elaborate furnishings and trimmings. All models will have trunk on the rear and will be deluxe units, complete to the finest details.

For the first time, the independent suspension system will be standard on both eights, along with improved shock absorbers, new non-slam safety door latches, flat transmission gears, and numerous other innovations and improvements; in addition they will retain the automatic hill-holder and other former features. The "miracle gear" shift and "gas-saving" automatic overdrive.

The new models are extremely clean-cut in appearance and have been attracting much favorable comment.

Mr. Irvine extends a cordial invitation to the motoring public to visit the salesrooms and see the new models.

POWELL HI SCHOOL HAS RECORD NUMBER PUPILS THIS YEAR

POWELL, Sept. 22.—(Spl.)—Powell high school has a record breaking enrollment one week after school opened, Clyde Ross, superintendent, revealed. There are 65 students enrolled, an increase of 15 over any period of the last year's number. The enrollment in the elementary school is 96, comparing favorably with the number at the beginning of last year. It is estimated that there will be 40 or 45 additional students to enter in the near future, as many are still picking cotton.

The high percentage for the high school is due to transfers from schools not offering the full four years of high school work.

The faculty is composed of Supt. Ross, J. C. Miller, vocational agriculture; Miss Allene Clark, English; N. B. Williams, history; Miss Rebecca Edmundson, elementary; Miss Katherine Holmes, art and elementary, and Miss Pauline Lawson, primary.

Undergoes Operation.

KERENS, Sept. 22.—(Spl.)—Mrs. E. E. Cherry of Kerens underwent a serious operation Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at the Navarro Clinic. At the noon hour Tuesday her condition was reported as good as could be expected.

M'CRAW FINDS HIS PROSPERITY GUIDE WORKING ON HIGH

AUSTIN, Sept. 23.—(P)—Attorney General William McCraw announced today that Texas is in a "financially sound economic condition."

The barometer—the flow of municipal and school bonds submitted for his approval—has hit the $200,000,000 mark, reflecting, he said, a building program in the past two years unprecedented since the federal government was "priming the pump" by putting up its share of funds.

"The bonds tell a story of public confidence in the present and future," said McCraw.

He expressed the opinion the issues reflected three clearly readable signs of returned good times:

1. Substantial trend away from relief rolls and toward private employment.

2. A strengthened financial condition.

3. Three times more bonds were approved in the past two years than in any similar period in the history of the state.

Most impressive, he added, was the fact issues were continuing despite the fact little outside financial aid was available to local governmental units.

Cotton Ginnings To Date Running Ahead Last Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—(P)—Government reports showed today this year's large cotton crop was being picked and ginned at a near record pace.

The Census Bureau announced 4,266,617 running bales had been ginned prior to September 16. This was the largest total for the date, with one exception, in the 13 years records have been compiled.

Ginnings in 1925 totaled 4,282,068 bales to September 16 and the year's final outturn was 18,122,516 bales. In the record crop year of 1927, when 17,765,070 bales were produced, ginnings to mid-September were only 2,500,103 bales.

Ginnings from this year's crop prior to September 16 included 56,128 round bales, counted as half bales, but none of American-Egyptian.

Ginnings to that date a year ago were 3,709,965 running bales, including 49,058 round bales, and to that date two years ago were 2,315,831, including 14,702 round bales.

Ginnings to Sept. 16 this year and last year, by states, included: Alabama, 350,835 and 425,453 last year; Arkansas, 280,090 and 325,615; Louisiana, 407,224 and 376,302; New Mexico, 3,139 and 2,716; Oklahoma, 88,437 and 91,233; Texas, 1,827,089 and 1,025,303.

Neither compact provides machinery to inflict penalties on violators.

Reply Being Prepared. TOKYO, Sept. 23.—(P)—The Japanese foreign office reply to the United States protest against indiscriminate bombing of large Chinese cities is being prepared, and probably will be delivered tomorrow.

The sharp United States note challenged Japan's right to engage in bombings like that of Nanking yesterday.

Barb Wire Prick Causes Death Of McCamey Youth

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 23.—(P)—James Wesley Johnson, 18, of McCamey died here this morning of tetanus and pneumonia. A barb wire prick in a finger ten days ago caused infection, which Johnson first felt while playing in the band at Midland Friday. He was brought here, developed pneumonia and was placed under an oxygen tent to no avail.

Burial will be made Friday afternoon at Sheffield. Johnson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Johnson, a brother and five sisters.

OPPORTUNITY FOR SCREEN TEST IS OFFERED BY MGM

DAILY SUN AND SEMI-WEEKLY LIGHT COOPERATING WITH PALACE

Would you like a chance at becoming a movie star? If you would, take advantage of the chance given to you by the Daily Sun, Semi-Weekly Light and Palace theatre.

Some Corsicana person is definitely going to get a real screen test by a crack Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer test crew working officially for and in behalf of the M-G-M studio.

Have you ever thought secretly that, given the proper chance, you could make good in motion pictures?

Have your friends ever remarked that you possessed voice appeal and personality enough to bring you fame and fortune on the screen?

Well...here's the opportunity of your lifetime. For, the Daily Sun and Palace theatre are giving you a chance to demonstrate your ability and personality before the same cameras and microphones that have recorded the pictures of all the great stars of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Intensive Search. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer is turning Texas into its own private hunting ground in an intensive search for new talent and is offering, through the Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light, to consider any one between the ages of 16 and 28 within the circulation area of these papers.

Naturally, screen tests cannot be made of all who apply. One of those having the most marked possibilities can be tested. Accordingly, some process of elimination must be employed and so the Palace theatre and the Daily Sun in cooperation with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will conduct local auditions for the purpose of selecting one person to be given screen tests. All that is necessary to do is to clip the coupon printed in the Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light, paste to the back of a photograph of yourself and send to the M-G-M Search for Talent Editor and mail under first class postage no later than September 29th.

Auditions at Palace. Auditions, which will take place at the Palace theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, September 29th and 30th, are open to all between the ages of 16 and 28, excepting employees of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Daily Sun, and the Palace theatre or to anyone who has been registered with Central Casting Agency or has had their picture taken in any nationally distributed motion picture.

So, there really isn't much to do to qualify for this golden opportunity for a screen test and a chance at being one of the stars to be sent to the M-G-M studios in Culver City.

There will be seventy-five tests made in all and from among the seventy-five the M-G-M test director, C. Edward Carrier for studio make-up by Bernard McDonnell, studio make-up artist, and photographed by Chief Cameraman Charles N. David and his assistant, Philip Greco, and voice tested by sound technician, Steven Jones.

Complete Screen Test. The screen test which some Corsicana person will receive will be complete in every respect. Each one tested will be made up, voice tested, photographed and directed by experts. The test crew is composed of C. Edward Carrier, M-G-M test director; make-up by Bernard McDonnell, studio make-up artist; photographed by Chief Cameraman Charles N. David and his assistant, Philip Greco, and voice tested by sound technician, Steven Jones.

Intensive auditions will be judged by a special committee representing the Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light, Palace theatre and a special representative of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

REPUBLICANS

(Continued From Page One.) Executive committee members came to town as many other republican leaders have come recently—bent upon getting their organization working at top speed as long as possible before next year's voting. They hold the expressed hope of thus increasing the party strength in congress.

ROMANTIC TEAM IN 'STELLA DALLAS'

The Samuel Goldwyn production of "Stella Dallas," with Barbara Stanwyck in the title role, the next attraction at the Palace theatre, beginning Saturday night, is a tense drama of a mother who sacrifices her own right to happiness for the sake of her daughter. It gives Miss Stanwyck the strongest role in her entire career and one which was coveted by every leading actress in Hollywood.

Co-starred with Miss Stanwyck is John Boles with a distinguished supporting cast, including Anne Shirley, Alan Hale, Barbara O'Neil, Al Shean of the famous team of Gallagher and Shean and Ed. Galt, son of Jack Hall. "Stella Dallas" is without doubt one of the most poignant and gripping stories ever to be filmed.

Fred Marberry, Jr., Was Born Tuesday At Local Clinic

Another big league baseball pitcher is in prospect. A nine pound and five ounce son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marberry at the Navarro Clinic Tuesday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock. The proud dad intimated the youngster would be named Fred, Jr.

The dad returned to Corsicana Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock from Toledo where he had been pitching baseball for the Mudhens in the American Association play-off series. After Marberry was released from the Dallas Steers as pitcher-manager about the middle of the season, he joined Toledo and won seven and lost two games during the remainder of the season. He does not know exactly what his plans are for 1938, but if he is in baseball, will likely return to the Mudhens.

GENERAL DENHARDT FACING CHARGE OF MURDER, IS SLAIN

THREE BROTHERS OF WOMAN ALLEGEDLY KILLED BY HIM SURRENDERED

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 21.—(P)—The three brothers of comely Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor were charged today with the murder of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt on the eve of his second trial on a charge of slaying his 40-year-old fiancée, Verna Garr Taylor.

The 61-year-old former Kentucky lieutenant governor, and adjutant general was to have gone on trial for a second time today at nearby New Castle charged with her slaying. His first trial, last April, ended with a jury's report it was deadlocked at seven to five for acquittal.

Murder warrants against Roy, Jack and Dr. E. S. Garr, were sworn by County Attorney Coleman, who said arraignment before County Judge H. F. Walters, was deferred until Friday to allow Rhodes K. Myers, chief of Denhardt's counsel, time to return the general's body to Bowling Green, Ky.

The warrants were served on the Garr brothers in the Shelby county jail by Sheriff Forrest Barnes.

Wright said the grand jury would convene Oct. 4. What action the commonwealth will take against the Garrs rests with the body.

Three men stepped from an automobile on the main street here last night as Denhardt and Myers started back to a hotel after conferring over final details of the trial scheduled today.

Ran When Warned. "There are the Garr Brothers," Myers warned Denhardt. The latter ran toward the hotel only to crumple in its entrance with bullets through his head and heart.

Myers fled in another direction and came back with hands above his head, to beg that he be spared.

"You are the — who killed my sister and I'm going to kill you," Myers said Roy Garr shouted at the bullets flew.

"You are the — who defended the — who killed my sister," the attorney said Dr. Garr shouted at him.

"Don't shoot the lawyer," Myers said Roy Garr cried, seizing the doctor's hand.

"I intend to go on the witness stand and state that Roy Garr saved my life," the lawyer said. "I'm going to credit him with that much anyway."

Myers said he and General Denhardt had agreed to meet secretly here last night before going to New Castle today for the opening of the trial and added:

"I think I know how they (the Garr Brothers) found out we were here but I can't afford to say yet. There was a leak somewhere."

Denhardt died without uttering a word. A crowd gathered and Patrolman Jephtha Tracey came running up. Tracey said the three brothers gave up their pistols and surrendered quietly to him and that Roy said, "I did it."

Jury Disagreed at Trial. At his first trial the jury disagreed and Denhardt's $25,000 bond was renewed. He declared Mrs. Taylor committed suicide because of the threats of a jealous suitor. The commonwealth contended Denhardt killed her last November because she yielded to her family's objections and had declined to marry him.

Declaring his innocence, the Spanish American, Mexican Border and World War Veteran pre-arranged that "there will be no second trial." The trial was called at the September term, however, because of the words came true.

His sister, Miss Bertha Denhardt who had stayed at his side during his trial, was at her home in Bowling Green last night when he was killed. Denhardt's former wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Glaze Denhardt, from whom he was divorced in 1933 after 32 years of wedlock, also lives in Bowling Green.

The Garr Brothers were jailed last night without formal charges being filed against them.

Denhardt, "a stormy petrel" of Kentucky politics, who had survived three wars, and had been wounded in a political controversy in Bowling Green in 1931, died of several bullet wounds without making a statement.

Patrolman Jephtha Tracey said Roy Garr admitted firing the fatal shot. He was jailed along with his two brothers, Dr. E. S. Garr and Jack Garr.

Tracey said Roy Garr declared "I did it" as he turned over a .45 caliber revolver with two shells discharged.

The patrolman said he took a .38 caliber revolver from Dr. Garr with all the shells discharged. Neither Jack Garr nor Denhardt were armed.

Had Conferred With Attorney. The killing occurred after Denhardt and one of his attorneys, Rhodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, had ended a conference regarding the scheduled trial today at nearby New Castle.

Myers, who was with Denhardt, said the firing began as "we started across the street to the (Armstrong) hotel."

"When the boys, Denhardt and the Garr boys, Denhardt ran toward the hotel and I dashed in another direction. The first two shots missed. Another struck the General in the back and he fell near the hotel entrance."

Myers said Roy Garr shouted, "You are the — who killed my sister and I am going to kill you."

One of the brothers approached him, Myers said. He said he raised his hands and pleaded, "Please don't shoot me, I haven't done anything to you."

"You are the — who defended the — who killed my sister," the attorney quoted the brother as shouting.

Boy Tells of Slaying. Another version of the assassination was given by 13-year-old Bruce Tracey, one of the few persons on the street at the time.

He said he was walking behind Denhardt and Myers when he saw three men get out of a car and "started toward Myers and the General."

At the first shot, Tracey said, Denhardt ran toward the hotel and Myers fled down the street. The General fell on the steps leading to the hotel entrance.

He said one of the men walked to the prostrate body of the General and shot him again.

"Another man pointed a pistol at Myers, who had come back with his hands up," the boy declared.

Coroner D. F. L. Lapsley returned a verdict that Denhardt died from a "bullet wound through the head and another through the heart."

An undertaker, however, said Denhardt had been wounded seven times.

Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kincaid, Jr., of Henry county (New Castle), who prosecuted Denhardt on the Taylor charge last spring, ordered that nobody be allowed to talk to the Garr brothers. Kincaid said that when the Denhardt case was called at New Castle today he would officially inform the court of the killing and move that the case be dismissed.

State Police Take Charge. Attorney General Hubert S. Meredith at Frankfort sent state policemen to take charge of the investigation and informed Myers his office would take over the case. Mrs. Taylor was shot to death last November during an automobile ride with the General.

Denhardt contended the vivacious La Grange widow, 20 years his junior, ended her own life because of her family's objections to her marriage to the General, who was divorced in 1933.

However, the state claimed the General slew Mrs. Taylor, mother of two daughters, because she refused to marry him.

The first trial ended in a jury stalemate—a reported 7 to 5 for acquittal. Denhardt was at liberty on $25,000 bond.

At the time of his death, Denhardt had pending in circuit court at Bowling Green, a suit against Edward C. Langan, public administrator of Jefferson county (Louisville), for $100,000 damages in connection with a suit growing out of the death in July, 1936, of Patricia Wilson, in a Louisville (Seebach) hotel.

Mrs. Wilson's broken body was found in the elevator shaft and Langan accused Denhardt in a $75,000 damage suit of responsibility for her death.

Denhardt claimed his enemies were attempting to imprison and "destroy" him financially, politically and socially.

TEXAS' GIGANTIC OIL INDUSTRY MAY BE OBJECTS ATTACK

TAX-RAISING LEGISLATIVE SESSION EXPECTED AIM AT OIL PRODUCERS

By HARRELL E. LEE
AUSTIN, Sept. 21.—(P)—The gigantic Texas oil industry may be subjected to attacks on several fronts at the tax-raising session of the legislature starting next Monday.

Petroleum producers long have been a favorite target of revenue raisers. Efforts to boost the production tax to as high as 10 per cent of value or perhaps even higher, will be renewed at the approaching session. It now is 2 3/4 per cent of value or 2 3/4 cents per barrel, whichever is greater.

Governor James V. Alfred has urged substantially larger levies on oil pipe lines, claiming some of the lines show tremendous profits. The pipe lines are at a disadvantage fighting back because all of them are large corporations whereas the producing ranks include many small independents.

Rep. Harry L. McKee of Port Arthur maintained, in a prepared statement a few days ago, that if the lines were earning too much, the proper remedy was a reduction in rates, not a boost in taxes. He pointed out that rates were regulated by the railroad commission.

Franchise Tax Increase. If a franchise tax increase should be proposed, as was done at the regular session last spring, it would hit all segments of the oil industry as well as other corporations.

The oil production tax now proposed would hit without formal charges being filed against them.

Denhardt, "a stormy petrel" of Kentucky politics, who had survived three wars, and had been wounded in a political controversy in Bowling Green in 1931, died of several bullet wounds without making a statement.

Patrolman Jephtha Tracey said Roy Garr admitted firing the fatal shot. He was jailed along with his two brothers, Dr. E. S. Garr and Jack Garr.

Tracey said Roy Garr declared "I did it" as he turned over a .45 caliber revolver with two shells discharged.

The patrolman said he took a .38 caliber revolver from Dr. Garr with all the shells discharged. Neither Jack Garr nor Denhardt were armed.

Had Conferred With Attorney. The killing occurred after Denhardt and one of his attorneys, Rhodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, had ended a conference regarding the scheduled trial today at nearby New Castle.

Myers, who was with Denhardt, said the firing began as "we started across the street to the (Armstrong) hotel."

"When the boys, Denhardt and the Garr boys, Denhardt ran toward the hotel and I dashed in another direction. The first two shots missed. Another struck the General in the back and he fell near the hotel entrance."

Myers said Roy Garr shouted, "You are the — who killed my sister and I am going to kill you."

One of the brothers approached him, Myers said. He said he raised his hands and pleaded, "Please don't shoot me, I haven't done anything to you."

"You are the — who defended the — who killed my sister," the attorney quoted the brother as shouting.

Boy Tells of Slaying. Another version of the assassination was given by 13-year-old Bruce Tracey, one of the few persons on the street at the time.

He said he was walking behind Denhardt and Myers when he saw three men get out of a car and "started toward Myers and the General."

At the first shot, Tracey said, Denhardt ran toward the hotel and Myers fled down the street. The General fell on the steps leading to the hotel entrance.

He said one of the men walked to the prostrate body of the General and shot him again.

"Another man pointed a pistol at Myers, who had come back with his hands up," the boy declared.

Coroner D. F. L. Lapsley returned a verdict that Denhardt died from a "bullet wound through the head and another through the heart."

An undertaker, however, said Denhardt had been wounded seven times.

Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kincaid, Jr., of Henry county (New Castle), who prosecuted Denhardt on the Taylor charge last spring, ordered that nobody be allowed to talk to the Garr brothers.

Kincaid said that when the Denhardt case was called at New Castle today he would officially inform the court of the killing and move that the case be dismissed.

State Police Take Charge. Attorney General Hubert S. Meredith at Frankfort sent state policemen to take charge of the investigation and informed Myers his office would take over the case. Mrs. Taylor was shot to death last November during an automobile ride with the General.

Denhardt contended the vivacious La Grange widow, 20 years his junior, ended her own life because of her family's objections to her marriage to the General, who was divorced in 1933.

However, the state claimed the General slew Mrs. Taylor, mother of two daughters, because she refused to marry him.

The first trial ended in a jury stalemate—a reported 7 to 5 for acquittal. Denhardt was at liberty on $25,000 bond.

At the time of his death, Denhardt had pending in circuit court at Bowling Green, a suit against Edward C. Langan, public administrator of Jefferson county (Louisville), for $100,000 damages in connection with a suit growing out of the death in July, 1936, of Patricia Wilson, in a Louisville (Seebach) hotel.

Mrs. Wilson's broken body was found in the elevator shaft and Langan accused Denhardt in a $75,000 damage suit of responsibility for her death.

Denhardt claimed his enemies were attempting to imprison and "destroy" him financially, politically and socially.

JAPANESE AIRMEN MEET OPPOSITION OVER CANTON TODAY

HONGKONG, Sept. 21.—(P)—Daring death-defying aviators fought today the first great aerial battle of the Sino-Japanese war over Canton, South China city 100 miles to the north of this British owned city.

At least six, possibly ten, Japanese planes crashed in twisting, diving dog fights. One Chinese pursuit plane was seen to crash in flames. Others also may have fallen.

A bomb demolished the Tingo aviation school administration building. Other bombs narrowly missed the Salchuen cement works. A number of civilians were reported killed.

A fleet of 21 Japanese raiding ships started the battle, appearing at early morning in an offensive directed against the Far South China city.

Tomato planes made a second attack shortly after noon. Residents along the Canton river front had a thrilling view of the combat.

Only half of the squadron of 21 actually reached Canton itself, Chinese said. Others were brought down by defending Chinese pursuit planes and artillery fire from Canton.

One raider, diving and twisting to ward off attackers, crashed to the ground. His plane exploded and the crew of two was killed.

Another Japanese ship fell near Canton. The ship was captured by the Chinese. The one Chinese plane which residents saw falling, went down in flames. The pilot, wounded and burned, landed by parachute.

The Nippon attackers dropped more than ten bombs, directing their aim at Chinese airdromes. The bombs fell, however, into surrounding fields.

Several farmers were injured. The aviation school was bombed in the second raid. One Japanese ship was forced down and three occupants were taken prisoners. Two other planes, obviously badly damaged, turned in flight.

Although many civilians were killed, a large share of the state's revenue. It yielded $14,012,743 in the fiscal year ended Sept. 1 and should yield more during the current year because of greater output.

In addition to the 2 3/4 per cent tax which goes to the school and general funds, oil producers must pay 2-18 cent per barrel for support of production.

A summary of production tax collections during the past 20 years shows that Texas oil operators already are paying far more than they formerly did. Returns in the last fiscal year were approximately $5,450,000 higher than in the preceding 12-month period.

The revenue for the 1926-27 was $5,855,864, or only about one-third of what it may be this year even though no increase is voted.

Legislators favoring a substantial boost in the production impost argue the Louisiana tax is higher and Texas operators, due to their closeness to tidewater, need not fear competition from other states.

During the regular session, the house voted to boost the production levy to 6 per cent, which would mean more than doubling the present rate. The bill died, however, in the senate state affairs committee. Oil men express confidence the senate still won't agree to a raise of more than one per cent of value, if any.

Rep. Albert M. Darden of Marlin said he believed oil could stand a 6-cent tax but was opposed to establishment of such a tax at the coming session because no chance for old age pension legislation existed and he wanted petroleum left as a revenue source when the pension statute is made more liberal.

The following social item taken from a Hollywood, Calif., paper will be of great interest to the many Corsicana friends and acquaintances of H. Thomas Adams, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Harrison.

Marriage rites for Miss Marjorie Bradley and H. Thomas Adams will be read by Ernest Beam, minister of the Church of Christ, in his home Monday evening. Miss Bradley will be attended by Miss Billy Trowbridge, Clinton Newby will act as best man.

Miss Bradley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Bradley of 25 Glendore avenue. Mr. Adams is the son of H. T. Adams prominent in oil circles in Bakerville.

The service will be attended only by members of the immediate families. Following the service a reception will take place in the home of the bride for a few close friends.

The couple will leave this evening for a motor trip to Austin, Texas, stopping en route to visit Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico. They expect to spend a year in Texas, where Mr. Adams is a senior at the university, studying business administration, and a member of Theta Xi fraternity.

Miss Bradley will enroll as a freshman. Miss Bradley is a graduate of Woodrow Wilson high school and a member of the S. P. O. Club.

Complimenting the bride-elect, Misses Billy Trowbridge and Gene Merithew entertained at the home of the former Friday afternoon with a lingerie shower. Bridge was the diversion. Present were Misses Margaret Monty, Edith Gruben, Evelyn Chapman, Helen Privett, Peggy Gibbons, Bobby Merithew, Norma Maltland, Gene Covey, Eloise Roper, Alma Pavey, Virginia Dunn, Pauline D'Armond, Margaret Watt, Betty Lewis, Edna Lou Bobbe, Marce Alice Hall, Elva Cutler, Barbara Cain, Jane Grey.

Visit In Corsicana. Mr. and Mrs. Adams arrived in Corsicana Friday evening on their way to Austin and left Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison entertained Saturday evening with a reception and tea in their honor, which was one of the prettiest social affairs of the week.

Pink gladioli and white asters in a beautiful floor basket, and bowls of purple asters and pink roses adorned the living room.

Guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, who introduced Mr. and Mrs. Adams, and by Mrs. E. D. McCarver, who invited all into the diningroom, where tea was poured by Mrs. Robert Walker, and tea dainties and mints were served by Mrs. J. Lindsey and Mrs. Preston Harrison.

The table was laid in a lace cloth and was centered with a low crystal bowl filled with pink roses and fern. The rich silver tea service and silver trays of cookies and silver comports for the mints made a most attractive tea table.

About 100 guests called during the hours.

Beauty Diary

of Edna Kent Forbes
SWEAT IT OFF!

HOW TO PERSPIRE.

According to the ads and the beauty advice, a lady doesn't, or shouldn't perspire. In real life she should arrange to do it thoroughly for good looks and health.

Another thing Matilda found out was that she could easily afford the cabinet baths which take off fat, a n d which clear the skin so marvelously. The e s c can be had from three dollars up to five dollars, and are always very well given and usually with m a s a g e. Of course, s o m e very s m a r t s h o p s charge more, but that does not mean the baths themselves are any more effective. It is nicer and more restful to lie in a reclining cabinet than to sit up in the other sort. No one is allowed to give these who does not know when the client has had enough, and someone is always around to apply an icepack when the heat makes the least heart flutter. In Turkish baths the cabinet bath is often quite cheap.

In encouraged Matilda in having these, for I know no better way to keep in good health, and to slim down and acquire a marvelous complexion. Matilda went every other day the first week, and after that twice a week until she left. But had she lived in the city or within reach of these places, once a week would have been ample.

Try them yourself as soon as the sun bathing season is really over. It happens, by the way, that they are the best way to get off sunburn in a hurry, which we shall all be doing shortly. We are definitely in for a season of black and I can think of nothing less becoming than black and a tanned skin—it gets worse when the tan peels off to a faded yellow, too. But a few Turkish or cabinet baths do the trick, they soften the top layers of skin so that the scrubbing which follows the bath, and the massage which usually follows that rolls off this outer cuticle in black little balls. In a short time, a new, white skin like a baby's makes its appearance.

W. L. P.—You may get some slight results from massaging once every 24 hours, using warm cocoa butter; also, if you build up all the muscles of the upper part of your body, you will do much toward making the bust firm. If a small bust is natural, no one will be able to change it to any extent. There is danger of bruising, or injury that may cause very serious trouble later, if a woman tries to force an apparent development through mechanical methods. Suction pumps are one of these things offered that should ever be used on such a sensitive organ as the bust. Build up all over. All the muscles of your body will then become firm, including the bust.

Proper carriage of the body will give such graceful lines, one does not have to be self-conscious of any portion separately. With the shoulders held in place, not hunched, stomach lifted and flattened, the chest is easy and breathing rhythmic. The result will be pleasing.

N. M. H.—One treatment from "Oil of Cade" could hardly be expected to completely cure a bad case of dandruff, but it will use it, at least long enough to be able to judge of its effect in your case. Massage every day, and get the blood circulating in the scalp. With a tight scalp, not to mention one coated with a collection of dandruff, there would be itching and weakened hair. Arouse the circulation, get the scalp cleared and you will have new hair appearing all the time. Tomorrow—Daily Beauty Routine.

MODERN WORLD WARNINGS, AND A WISER, OLDER 'BEWARE!'

Of All Dangers Threatening the Nation, That Pointed Out By Moses Is the Gravest—Realistic Views Upon the Relation of Religion to Patriotism.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

"Beware!" cries the first word of this Lesson portion.

It is no strange word, for prophets of warning are abroad in the land. Let us see how this ancient "Beware!" compares with others that are current.

"Beware of Communism!" cry many voices; but there is worse to be feared.

"Beware of Fascism!" cry other voices; but there is worse to be feared.

"Beware of the capitalists!" cry still other voices; but there is worse to be feared.

"Beware of labor unions and socialism!" cry timid vested interests; but there is worse to be feared.

"Beware of class consciousness!" cry thoughtful world-watchers; but there is worse to be feared.

"Beware of propaganda!" cry journalists; but there is worse to be feared.

"Beware of the crime wave!" cry the sensationalists; but there is worse to be feared.

Like a modern motor highway, life today is sprinkled with warning signs, perhaps too many. But here, in the wise words of Moses, one of history's three grandest figures, as he bade farewell to the nation he had loved and loved, is a caution more keen and basic and understanding and comprehensive than any of the alarms that are nowadays dinned into our ears.

A Warning For Our Times.

This old message has an uncanny present applicability. The Lesson text possesses more power and pertinency than any possible comment upon it.—"Beware that thou forget not the Lord thy God, in not keeping His commandments, and His judgments, and His statutes, which I command thee this day; lest when thou hast eaten and art full, and hast built goodly houses, and dwelt therein; and when thy herds and thy flocks multiply, and thy silver and thy gold is multiplied, and all that thou hast is multiplied; then thine heart be lifted up, and thou forget the Lord thy God, which brought thee forth out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage; who led thee through that great and terrible wilderness, wherein were fiery serpents, and scorpions, and drought, where there was no water; who brought thee forth out of the rock of flint; who fed thee in the wilderness with manna, which thy fathers knew not, that He might humble thee, and that He might prove thee, to do thee good at thy latter end; and thou say in thine heart, My power and the might of mine hand hath gotten me this wealth. But thou shalt remember the Lord thy God: for it is He that giveth thee power to get wealth, that He may establish His covenant which He swore unto thy fathers, as it is this day. And it shall be if thou do at all forget the Lord thy God, and walk after other gods, and serve them, and worship them, I testify against you this day that ye shall surely perish. As the nations which the Lord destroyed before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the Lord your God."

At the Hour of Things.

All of the contemporary national dangers against which watchmen on the walls are crying "Beware!" are really only secondary perils. They may be met and mastered by giving heed to the bed-rock and all-embracing menace of godlessness. For the worst possible evil that could befall our land would be recency to the Power that hitherto has led us and guarded us and dowered us with unexampled largesse.

In Washington's Farewell Address to the people of his new nation he stressed this truth. One of his familiar sentences, so full in its understatement, is, "Let

BRITISH OBSERVERS HOPING MUSSOLINI WILL CO-OPERATE

UNUSUAL IMPORTANCE ATTACHED TO FRENCH-ITALIAN CONFERENCE

LONDON, Sept. 23.—(P)—British observers entertained hopes today that Premier Mussolini, as a result of Franco-Italian conferences now going on at Geneva, would play along with the Anglo-French lineup in the complicated European diplomatic situation.

Unusual importance was said to be attached to the conferences between French Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos and the Italian representative in Geneva, Giovanni Scoppa, who already have talked over various problems arising from the Spanish civil war and Mediterranean troubles.

These unexpected conversations were reported unofficially to have resulted so far in Italian guarantees against increased Italian intervention in Spain.

While Italy thus seemed to be drawing closer to the Anglo-French front, tension between France and the Spanish insurgents was on the increase.

French authorities took special precautions along the Pyrenean frontier as the result of reports an attempt might be made to rescue one of Generalissimo Franco's military governors charged with a plot to steal a Spanish government submarine from the French harbor of Brest.

French anger at the insurgents over the detention of the French consul at Malaga was heightened by a report reaching the frontier that seven French citizens now residents of San Sebastian and Irun would be expelled from Spain today.

Representatives Are Pleased at Reception Of Highway Requests

Corsicana representatives to the highway commission hearing in Austin Tuesday returned home considerably encouraged although they had no definite commitments for action of any kind on several important projects.

They reported a sympathetic hearing both from the commissioners and other officials and are hopeful of action at an early date.

Kansas Now Scene of Farm Disappearance

POTWIN, Kas., Sept. 23.—(P)—Charles R. Johnson was mystified today by the gradual disappearance of his farm, a mile and a half northwest of here. The ground started dropping yesterday afternoon and within a few hours a hole, 200 feet wide and 30 feet deep had formed.

Scientists have been unable to determine the reason for a similar "sinking farm" near Muhl, Idaho, recently.

San Antonio Lad Proves Hero And Saves Thirteen

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 21.—(P)—Ignacio Gonzales, an 11-year old boy proved himself a hero and saved 13 children and two adults from possible death from fire that virtually destroyed a frame house this morning.

Fire broke out in the place shortly after midnight while the members of the two families were sleeping. Ignacio, son of Mrs. Herlinda Gonzales, was awakened by the heat of a burning wall near him and immediately summoned his mother who awakened her other children and also Mrs. Josephine Valdez and her three children who were living in the same building.

Ignacio calmly ushered the children from the house which became a roaring furnace shortly after they gained the outside.

State Home Lads To Meet Abbott Friday Evening

State Home Lads and the Abbott, Hill county, eleven will clash on Garitty Field, Friday night, at 7:30. Coach Red Clem announced Thursday morning. Home officials had contacted the Abbott authorities in an effort to have the game postponed until Saturday night in order that the contest would not conflict with the circus to be shown here, but the Hill countians declined to change the date.

The Lads are reported in better condition this week than prior to their shellacking at the hands of the Mart Panthers here last week. Abbott is reported to have a sensational little passer in that lineup and the Lads will again be forced to play heads-up ball.
